C. P. R. IRRIGATION SABOTAGE

From Calgary, Medicine Hat, Macleod, Hanna and possibly other points in southern Alberta, newspapers have carried recently items and editorials concerning the drought situation, and emphasizing the need of water conservation and further development of irrigation projects.

In almost all cases they cite with enthusiasm the success which of recent years (since 1935 to be exact) has attended the labours of the settlers of the Eastern Irrigation District. But that is another story!

In no instance, that we know of, has there been any mention of the fact that the C.P.R. is proceeding as fast as it may to abandon the irrigation project known as the Western Section of the C. P. R. Irrigation block, a block which in years gone by supplied water at the rate of fifty cents per acre to over 100,000 acres of irrigable land.

For years the Company knew that it was losing money on both the Eastern and Western Sections and when the depression hit, the Company officials in Montreal concluded that something must be done to stop the tremendous drain on the Company's cash resources, due to losses on these two projects.

Western Officials, if the truth were known, were told to "abandon" or "amalgamate." They chose to abandon. When the transfer to the E.I.D. was made the Company's plans were already well advanced. In fact, comparatively few of the settlers on the project in the Spring of 1935 were in a position to make a legal demand on the Company for water supply, having signed away their water rights and entered into yearly leases. The proposal to transfer was just as cheap, and probably more politic than abandonment, hence the Company's willingness to make the deal, adequately seasoned with a cash gift of $300,000.00.

On the Western Section the Company's plan leading toward ultimate abandonment of its irrigation works began on the West, and Bassano on the East, a distance of nearly 80 miles, has been proceeding apace albeit steadily, quietly but persistently. Miles upon miles of irrigation ditches will never again carry water at C.P.R. expense. Irrigation works, some of them of major size, have been totally destroyed.

Farmers have been coerced, bribed, threatened and cajoled into signing away their right to receive water. The net results, so far as the Company is concerned, must be highly satisfactory. Today, only a small percentage of those who formerly were entitled to get water, are in a position to demand and get it.

The acreage at present under water right is a mere fleecible to that previously served, and at the present rate of progress, the Company will be in a position, in a few years time, to write "finis" to that Chapter of its history. Five years from now an irrigable farm on the Western Section will be an oddity, unless some agency steps in and stops the sabotaging of the project.

Peculiarly enough, the farmers themselves are at loggerheads on the advisability of carrying on with water service, while others, ostrich like, are kidding themselves that the C.P.R. will not close up shop as vendors of water at the ridiculous rate of 50 cents per acre. The evidence of abandonment is clear, yet they will not learn.

It is unlikely that the C.P.R. would duplicate its generosity with the E.I.D. Likewise we refuse to believe that there is no basis of settlement available which would not only be of great benefit to the farmers individually and collectively, but which would also enable the Company "to save its face" with becoming grace.

MASS EXODUS

On July 3rd, at Chinook, Alta., a mass meeting was held of farmers at which a resolution was passed unanimously condemning the district as a grain growing or mixed farming community, and requesting the Federal and Provincial authorities to implement promises, previously made to move them out, lock, stock and barrel, and leave the country to be utilized as a limited ranching proposition. How many more districts are there in Saskatchewan and Alberta which may demand the same treatment?

DRUMHELLER CO-OPERATION

To assist community spirited residents of the progressive Village of Carbon in the construction of their new Community Swimming Pool, the Drumheller City Council "sold" a hundred feet of used six-inch steel pipe and a six inch valve for the sum of one dollar, following a request from the Carbon Committee to purchase same at a reasonable price, the valve and pipe to be used in draining the pool when necessary. No doubt the Committee were surprised and pleased.

PRESS ACCURACY

We are beginning to doubt even the accuracy of the date on some of the daily publications which reach this district. According to a certain morning paper Bassano had a five hour down fall of rain on Tuesday of this week. Crop reports in another daily emanating from the same City as its morning contemporary are about as accurate. And, by the way, did last weeks fearful drowning calamity in an irrigation ditch on the Cheshmere highway, take place within the City Limits, where the roads are so good, or on "one of those Alberta Highways" we hear so much about? And it is not time that the City of Calgary did really fix up that particular bit of highway from the irrigation ditch at the Inglewood Golf Course, to where the road is blottered, about one mile away in an easterly direction, towards Cheshmere Lake?

The SNAPSHOT GUILD
PICTURES EVERYBODY LIKES

The amateur who took this picture gave thought to it. The boys are his sons, but the appeal of the picture is universal.

THE relationship tell us that there are now millions and millions of camera owners—more than a million right here in Canada alone—but how many of them take pictures that really qualify as pictures, such as might be chosen to adorn the walls of a home other than their own, is a question.

Some judges of amateur snapshot contents aver that scarcely one person in a couple of thousand submit pictures of genuine pictorial quality or having the saving appeal of a telling human interest. Others say that often most of the pictures are as good in these respects that they are as upon what the pictures are. All of them concede that from the standpoint of photographic quality—correct exposure and proper focus—the average of amateur photographs is high in that sense there is no doubt that thousands of amateurs take good pictures but with respect to creating general appeal, it must be admitted that not all give evidence of attention to artistic composition, thought in the choice of subject, or care for the right moment to snap the shutter. The result is pictures that are commonplace in their appeal to others. Usually such pictures are personal to the picture taker, such as a close-up of a beloved infant with no qualities to distinguish it from snapshots of a thousand other babies.

To win snapshot prizes, camera users need to take pains to plan their pictures or at least exercise judgment in selecting a viewpoint that will give the best composition. Happen shooting rarely brings really good pictures. Unless experience has proved it, amateur picture takers should not assume that they possess a natural picture sense. They would do well to study examples of artistic photographs constantly published in magazines, newspapers and books, go to photographic exhibits, and learn what it takes to make a good picture.

Can it be that the majority of amateur picture takers are quite content with their pictures considering the fun they get in taking them and the value as records of good times or likeness of relatives and friends? Certainly many do get vast enjoyment in carrying their snapshots around with them in wallets and handbags and showing them to those in the circle of their acquaintance. They think their pictures are pretty good, and, as personal pictures, they certainly are.

Whether or not a camera user is interested in snapshot contests, he can get all the pleasure the picture gets in his work to create pictures that will be admired by everybody if he will venture beyond the field of personal interest and try to make pictures of general appeal. This means planning, care and thought. It's the difference, for example, between a picture entitled, "My wife and Junior, aged four," with the subject standing stiffly side by side, and one of the same subjects entitled, "A boy's best friend is his mother," showing her, with the boy hovering over her knee, giving him a spanking. The kind of picture every body likes.

NEW ALBERTA GOVERNOR

A SCOUT

Hon. J. E. Brown, new Lieutenant Governor of Alberta, and his predecessor, Patron of the Boy Scouts Association of the province, was fully invested as a Scout by Provincial Commissioner J. H. Woods of Calgary, at the largely attended Scout Coronation Sunday Service held in the Prince of Wales Armouries in Edmonton.

Crowfoot Notes

Mrs. Arthur Guyatt reported to the writer that she and Mr. Guyatt had two girls and a man stop at their residence who were leaving the country on bicycles. They had started from Melbourne, Australia, and were on their way to Montreal, and then by boat to England. They had very little luggage with them and seemed very enthusiastic about their trip.

Mr. Arthur Guyatt had the sad news from his brother William, who visited here on a couple of occasions that his wife had passed away in New York City, their home for the past five years. He also had a letter from his brother, David, a former resident of our district, that they were visiting all Eastern cities of importance, such as Montreal, Quebec, Toronto, and to Collingwood to see the famous quints. They were accompanied by their three daughters.

Mr. Rudolph (Slim) Hopkiss was taken to the Bassano Hospital Sunday morning suffering from some painful ailment.

Mr. Tom Rodhouse took off his hat for a couple of days to attend the Stampede.

Mr. and Mrs. Penwick took in the Stampede Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Penwick have at their guests two of Mrs. Penwick's nieces, the Misses Goggin, from Humber and Siles.

Miss Maile Jones, Mrs. Frank Rodhouse, Mr. and Mrs. Penwick were callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Broder on Thursday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Joe Burger also spent the evening at the Brooks home.

Mr. and Mrs. Mike Robertson and children passed through Crowfoot on their way to Manitoba, where Mr. Robertson is spending his holidays.

Mr. Samuel Palmer spent Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the Calgary Stampede.

Mrs. Weeks and her brother, Mr. J. Baldwin, spent a few days at Calgary taking in the Stampede. On their return, Mr. Baldwin continued on to his home in Ontario.

Miss Doris Holton, who has been in Vancouver for the past three months, returned to Makepeace to visit her parents before returning to Calgary to complete her business course.

Mrs. Hoffman and family motored to Calgary on Saturday.

Mrs. Hoffebower and Mr. B. Rose were in Standard visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Deschamps. Crops do not seem to be much ahead of our own, although with moisture conditions, it might be possible to harvest a 4 or 5 bushel crop, except on the irrigation, where the fields look fine.

Don't forget to attend the meeting in Letham on Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m. to discuss ways and means of relief to the drought farmers. Speakers from Edmonton will be present, but immediate action is urged or will be urged to tide them over this critical condition. A large crowd is expected to voice their opinions in this matter with the view of assistance in some way that will be best for all.

Fred Bulger and Arthur Arrison are out in Gem putting up hay. Frank King is at Goodwin and Bill Rodhouse and Ollie Boesen are at Plamers.

Mr. Joe Roberto is having at the Lohr home in Letham.

HEALTH

A HEALTH SERVICE OF THE CANADIAN MEDICAL ASSOCIATION AND LIFE INSURANCE COMPANIES OF CANADA

SWAT THAT FLY!

The common house fly, in addition to being an annoyance, is a real nuisance to the health of your family. It has been repeatedly proved that the house fly is capable of transmitting disease germs and in this manner spreads infection. This is particularly true of infections of the digestive tract and a good deal of evidence is accumulating that this common pest may be responsible for the spread of typhoid, which occurs during the summer and autumn months.

A large metropolitan children's hospital recently conducted a study of 100 houses from which about 1000 children were admitted. By far the greater number of children came from the poorer section of the city where screening was inadequate and open garbage pails were in common sight. Investigators actually laid counts of the number of flies in these houses and found that they were far more numerous than in other parts of the city. In many of the homes several members of the family were ill with a similar complaint, and when the flies which swarmed around the pail containing soiled diapers were taken to fly to the family dinner table it was not hard to believe that transmission of infection might take place in this way.

The reason which all should learn is that flies are dangerous carriers. They should be excluded from our homes by properly fitting window screens and screen doors. All fifth and decaying matter should be cleared up. Garbage and other refuse should be wrapped and placed in cans which have tightly fitting lids. Outdoor privies in farming areas and at the summer cottage should be properly constructed and looked after to exclude the flies. The few survivors who are clever enough to penetrate these defenses may be dealt with in the house by means of sticky fly papers or traps.

Anyone who has visited the East, where millions of people are prevented by noxious insects from taking the life of even a fly, will tell of the horrible sight of flies crawling over the ugly sores of a beggar and transferring their attention to the eyes and mouth of a sleeping baby. It is possible that this tolerance for the fly is responsible for the appalling death rate from intestinal diseases in these countries. Parasitologists should realize that the common fly which prevails in these countries, the house fly, is a dangerous animal and should take the simple steps necessary to prevent its ravages.

Questions concerning health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

After leaving by train from Bassano four weeks ago, the doctor and his family picked up their new car at Toronto, and made an extensive tour of the eastern States. George attended a three day fraternity convention at New York being the delegate from The University of Alberta. The Scotts report having a very enjoyable holiday.

One of the Scout Promises reads: "I promise to do a good deed every day." At least one this week.

Local Scouts lived up to this, for they turned out in force to weed, water and roll and generally put the three tennis courts in good shape for next week's tournaments.

No. all the Scouts don't play tennis, so that day's good deed has been much applauded by local tennis fans, for the boys put in many hours of good hard work.
